

PAGE OF SPORTS

SPIEGEL OF
W. & J. FLAYS
WALTER CAMP

Al Spiegel, halfback on the Washington and Jefferson eleven, is much vexed because Walter Camp did not see fit to honor any of the W. & J. players on his first "All-American" team this season.

He believes it was an undeserved slight to a team that beat everything it played except Harvard and that would have kicked the Crimson but for its misfortune in having Earl Patterson, the big tackle, disqualified early in the game.

"I am not kicking about my being put on the second team," said "Al." "It seems to me, however, that our eleven with the record it made, deserved at least one player on the first All-American. Patterson was beyond doubt the best lineman in the country this fall."

"He has outplayed every man whom he faced in the last two seasons and hardly a foot of ground has been made through him in that time. He was practically a line in himself, with his great bulk, strength, experience and aggressiveness. I don't see why he had to be set back to the second."

"Crile, our captain and center, was the best man in his position whom I have seen in a long time. He was all over the field like a cat and in some of the best made almost every tackle. Walter Camp's own son said that he was the most active and valuable center seen on Yale's field in years. Yet he goes back to the third team."

WELSH DEMANDS
$7,500 FOR MATCH
OF SIX ROUNDS

According to Johnny Kilbane, Freddie Welsh demanded $7,500 for a six round bout at Philadelphia with the Cleveland Kid. Kilbane does not mention the price at which he values his services, but it would appear that if it is worth $7,500 for a lightweight to tackle a featherweight, it should be worth at least $18,000 for a featherweight to meet the lightweight. The promoters figure that both together are not worth $5,000 for a six round scamp.

Welsh and Kilbane seem to have formed a mutual admiration society. Each professes to have the highest respect for the other's ability and neither passes up a chance to pay a compliment. Recently Welsh was quoted as saying that he regarded Kilbane as one of the greatest boxers of recent times. Kilbane came back with the assertion that Welsh was his ideal exponent of scientific fighting and that he had learned many of his best tricks by watching the lightweight champion in action.

GOTCH THREATENS TO WRESTLE ONCE MORE

Boston, Dec. 30.—There is a story from the west that Frank Gotch, the champion grappler, will throw down his farming tools and once more come back into the wrestling game. Emil Klank, who is said to be as near to Gotch as any one, gives out the rumor that it would not take a whole lot to get the champion back into the game.

But we would like to know if Gotch is to come back, who is there for him to wrestle? Certainly there does not appear an available heavyweight on the wrestling horizon that can give him a real battle. With Zbyszko and a few more of the possible contenders signed up for the European war, there is none left for the American.

FANS' OWN
COLUMN

RUBBER FOOTWEAR
MEN'S RUBBERS 50c to $1.45
LADIES' RUBBERS 40c to 75c
MEN'S RUBBER BOOTS $3.50 to $7.50
Boys', Youths', Misses' and Children's Rubbers, Arctics and Rubber Boots.

Jaycox Rubber Co.
1042 Main St. Head Cannon St.

THE FAUST
NEWLY OPENED
EXCELLENT CUISINE
BEST CABINET
38-42 ELM STREET

Shoes for All Members of the Family.
BOSTON SHOE STORE
1238 MAIN STREET,
Fifth Theatre Building.

UP-TO-DATE BARBER SHOP
STYING BARBERS NO WAITING
WILLIAM MCCOMB
906 Main Street, Boston Shoe Store
M. N. BELLWOOD, M. C. P.
Phone 3622-4. Licensed Chiropodist

Dr. Thompson
Practice Limited to Men
1128 MAIN STREET
Bridgeport, Conn.

Office Hours: 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.
Sundays 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.

Farmer Want Ads. One Cent a Word

Bridgeport Reported

PECKINPAUGH OF YANKEES

MAY JUMP TO OUTLAWS

Former New York American Manager

Has Been Offered Big Salary

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 30.—One of two players likely to be landed by the Indianapolis Reds is Roger Peckinpaugh, temporary manager of the Yankees. Manager Bill Phillips made an effort to land Peckinpaugh last winter, and almost succeeded. Roger was made leader of the Yankees when Frank Chance resigned, and presumably is not overpleased at the prospect of having to return to the ranks under the new owners and a new manager.

Aside from the fact that the Reds are not overlooking any chances to nab players in organized baseball who are nursing grudges, it is believed that Manager Phillips is in the market for a player that might strengthen the infield. Peckinpaugh, who is rated as one of the best shortstops in the business, and his acquisition by any club would be considered a big deal.

Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

McNally is the property of the Boston Americans, having been sent to Manager Fred of St. Paul last spring under official manager Joe Tricker of the Chicago Cubs.

The Federal League scouts are also on the trail of Mike McNally, shortstop of the St. Paul American Association club the past season. McNally's all-around playing is said to have made a favorable impression on a number of Federal Leaguers who saw him perform at Indianapolis and Kansas City.

CLAM SALE

OF YANKEES

IS COMPLETED

New York, Dec. 30.—At a late hour last night it was seen that the deal for the Yankees was closed at a final conference between Johnson, Farrell, Ruppert and Huston. According to this story the stock has been transferred.

None of the principals to the transaction would discuss the matter, and President Johnson gave orders that no one should disturb his rest when attempts were made to reach him at his hotel.

It was hinted yesterday among baseball men that one of the leading obstacles in the negotiations was Farrell's inability to give Ruppert and Huston a guarantee that he could deliver a ball team.

If Farrell could promise to deliver this club as it finished last season, Ruppert and Huston would have the nucleus of a pretty good club, but can he do so? So far only Sweeney, Malsie, Boone and Warhop are known to be under contract.

The Federal League is working hard on Roger Peckinpaugh, the crack shortstop of the club, and they also have made a flustering offer to Marty McHale, Fisher, who next to Caldwell is the best infielder in the league, and almost jumped during the last campaign, when the Feds trained their guns on Ray Caldwell and Schulz, Caldwell and Schulz have already jumped.

Nunamaker also had a Federal League offer last season, and, as Luther Cook, who threatens to develop into a crack hitter, is unsigned, it would not be unreasonable to imagine that the Feds are going after him.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

PROPOSED OUTLAW LEAGUE IN

THIS CITY LOOKS LIKE JOKE

Beckman and Swenson of Blue Ribbons Stand Well In New York State League

New York, Dec. 30.—At a late hour last night it was seen that the deal for the Yankees was closed at a final conference between Johnson, Farrell, Ruppert and Huston. According to this story the stock has been transferred.

None of the principals to the transaction would discuss the matter, and President Johnson gave orders that no one should disturb his rest when attempts were made to reach him at his hotel.

It was hinted yesterday among baseball men that one of the leading obstacles in the negotiations was Farrell's inability to give Ruppert and Huston a guarantee that he could deliver a ball team.

If Farrell could promise to deliver this club as it finished last season, Ruppert and Huston would have the nucleus of a pretty good club, but can he do so? So far only Sweeney, Malsie, Boone and Warhop are known to be under contract.

The Federal League is working hard on Roger Peckinpaugh, the crack shortstop of the club, and they also have made a flustering offer to Marty McHale, Fisher, who next to Caldwell is the best infielder in the league, and almost jumped during the last campaign, when the Feds trained their guns on Ray Caldwell and Schulz, Caldwell and Schulz have already jumped.

Nunamaker also had a Federal League offer last season, and, as Luther Cook, who threatens to develop into a crack hitter, is unsigned, it would not be unreasonable to imagine that the Feds are going after him.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

It was conjectured at the club headquarters that Gaffney referred to some disgruntled National League player, who, like Magee, threatened to jump to the Feds unless he were traded, or some man who on the fence, like Marquardt, for instance.

When pressed for further information, Gaffney shut up like a clam, after adding that Magee looked good enough for him. He would not disclose the name of the "Federal League star" in question.

Callahan and was used to coach young players. Gleason was a pitcher in the palmy days of the Baltimore Orioles but later became an infielder and starred with the Philadelphia Nationals and other teams.

The Blue Ribbon basketball management has signed the Point Five of Bayonne, N. J., to appear here next Tuesday night. This team has not appeared here but it is said to be a fast aggregation.